

Disclaimer

The use of this website is governed by this Disclaimer. Your use of this website constitutes acknowledgment by you that you have read and understand this Disclaimer and that you accept and will be bound by the terms of this Disclaimer.

Hawkins Delafield & Wood LLP ("Hawkins") has prepared this website for general information purposes only. The information contained in this website is not intended to provide or to be a substitute for legal advice under any circumstance. Viewers should not act upon this information without seeking professional counsel. The information contained in this website does not create an attorney-client relationship with Hawkins.

No representations, warranties or guarantees whatsoever are made as to the accuracy, adequacy, reliability, currentness, completeness, suitability or applicability of the information contained in this website to a particular situation.

All the webpages, including the text, graphics and design, the audio, visual and other software, and other works contained in this website are the copyrighted works of Hawkins or its website consultants unless otherwise indicated. All rights reserved.

This website may contain links to other websites. Such links are not endorsements of any products or services in such sites, and no information has been endorsed or approved by Hawkins.

While customary safeguards are taken to prevent and eradicate viruses at this website, Hawkins disclaims all responsibility and liability for any damages caused by viruses transmitted or downloaded from this website, including viruses attached to electronic files. This Disclaimer constitutes the entire and only agreement between Hawkins and any viewer of this website. This Disclaimer supersedes any and all prior or contemporaneous agreements, representations, warranties and understandings with respect to this website and the information contained in this website.